RED CROSS ROLL CALL IS PART OF COMMUNITY DRIVE

Social Service Work Will Be Emphasized In Program Next Year.

NURSING SERVICE WILL BE EXPANDED

Attention To Ex-service Men's Needs Will Form Important Part.

The annual Red Cross roll call for members will be held in connection with the campaign for funds next Wednesday and Thursday under the auspices of the Salem Federation. This will do away with a separate campaign as has been the custom in the past.

Red Cross leaders in Salem are planning their program for the coming year with a view to eliminating financial relief work and devoting the time and expense to social service, which does not mean financial aid. The local chapter reports that conditions in Salem have improved 100 per cent over last year. There is work for every able bodied man in the city and there is no need for charitable work among families where the men are able to work.

Some relief work of this nature necessarily must continue for the benefit of widows with dependents or in special conditions. However, the program for the year includes constructive work in families rather than charity, for the chapter believes that the time is past for financial relief. Charity doesn't mean money, the leaders point out, but the reconstruction of families to make them self-supporting.

Aid Ex-Service Men

The nursing service will be given more attention, more of the funds to be spent to promote public health. Miss Hazel Linn of this city is the public health nurse. As soon as the school nurse begins her work, the Red Cross will attempt special work among children under school age.

One of the most important phases of Red Cross work is for the benefit of ex-service men. Although the general impression has been that this work was about completed, in the last six months the Salem chapter received more compensation applications than for a year preceding. Many cases of disability come to the attention of the Red Cross and the local workers expect to devote much time to continuation of this work during the coming year.

By sharing in the money to be raised during the campaign for community funds next week, the Red Cross hopes to carry out these plans at once.

$700 Needed To Pay Off Home Mortgage

Home Of Yeager Family Is Mortgaged For $2,000, $1,200 Raised.

When The News started a fund for the benefit of Mrs. Raymond Yeager and her five small children shortly after the husband and father had been killed in an explosion, it was announced that the money would be used to help pay off the mortgage on their home on Park st.

Since the contributions have been coming in so generously, many people have asked how much is needed to pay off the entire mortgage. Adolph Yeager, father of the explosion victim, states that his son's property cost $2,500 and $500 had been paid at the time of his death. Interest has claimed part of the payment, leaving $2,000 due on the property.

The News started the fund with $10, which has grown to more than $700, including $430 donated by employees and officials of the Mullins Body corporation. The Victor Sewer Co. employees also made a donation and it is understood employees of other shops are now contributing to funds which will be reported later.

The first donation of $156 came from Beloit, where Mr. Yeager had been employed and his father has been soliciting funds, reporting more than $300 to date. All these funds total nearly $1,300 and if this entire amount is applied to paying off the mortgage it will leave a balance of $700 to be met.

The News will continue this fund until it seems certain that no more contributions are coming in. Previously reported $ 738.06 Ladies' Catholic Benevolent Ass'n 25.00 Concord church Sunday school 11.00 J. Swennington 2.00 A Friend 1.00 Cash 1.00

Williamsport, Ind., Oct. 20.—Three persons were killed and seven seriously injured when a fast Wabash flyer was ditched near here early today. An investigation of peculiar aspects of the wreck was begun at once.

Investigation revealed that spikes and bolts had been taken out and laid at the side of the track before the crash took place.

Fireman John Hinton, who was only slightly injured, said he saw the track with a section of the rail missing, but that it was too late to stop the train.

A posse which includes the county sheriff and a number of railroad detectives are combing the countryside in an effort to find the train wreckers.

The engine and seven coaches were hurled into ditch and burned. It was regarded as somewhat of a miracle that not more persons were killed.

Athletic "stunts" by some of the boys and more songs by the faculty quartet terminated the entertainment.

Boys Of High School Enjoy Annual Party

Thursday evening 275 boys of the high school assembled at the school for the annual party. They reported first at the auditorium where the Paramount picture, "Across the Border" was shown them.

Retail Cost Of Food Is Lower For Month

Washington, Oct. 20.—Retail food costs for the average family during September were approximately one per cent lower than during August. The Department of Labor reported today. The conclusion was based on reports of prices gathered at retail markets in 51 important cities, representing nearly all sections of the United States.

During the year since September, 1921, the report said, the decrease in retail food prices has amounted to 9 per cent but since September, 1915, there has been an increase of 38 per cent.

PLUNGES INTO FRAY WITHOUT VACATION

Tremendous Ovation Given Him At Reception For Prince Of Wales.

London, Oct. 20.—A tremendous ovation was given David Lloyd George today when he went to Guild hall to take part in the ceremonies officially welcoming home the Prince of Wales from his recent Indian trip, in toasting the prince Lloyd George said:

"I am only a transient minister now, but I still represent the people who wish to express their admiration for you." The prince shook the former premier by the hand warmly.

London, Oct. 20.—Former Premier David Lloyd George, cheerful, buoyant and smiling, told his friends today that he is preparing for the greatest battle of his political career. The premier and all his friends believe that he will "come back" without difficulty.

Lloyd George has rearranged his plans for a vacation. He is not going to take a rest but is going to plunge into the fray right away. He will go to Leeds tonight and make a political speech there tomorrow opening his own political campaign.

It is expected that the premier will make definite announcement as to the possibility of the formation of a new political party. Mr. Lloyd George is confident that he will be recalled to the premiership.

Andrew Bonar Law, successor to Lloyd George, will attempt to form a new cabinet over the weekend. Mr. Law said this afternoon that he will ask for immediate dissolution of parliament if he is elected leader of the Unionist party Monday.

"President Harding during 18 months of administration has salvaged from the financial and political wreck of national affairs the foundation for normal prosperity among the farming interests, the industrial and commercial lines and safeguarded these together with the jobs and wages of American workers by an adequate Republican protective tariff," declared Col. Thompson.

Just Dog

CHICAGO'S mongrel dog show is recognition of the average dog.

Dog shows are not new but this was possibly the first instance in which the real dog, the kind of a dog a boy had on the farm, has had an inning.

Dogs of quality and proud lineage are judged by points. They have certain distinct markings by which they are rated.

The mongrel

boasts no points.

He has no long

pedigree.

Yet he has something that is worth more than points, markings or pedigree. He has affection and loyalty for him who accepts these things from an eager donor.

There are dogs

which submit to be led around by a string in the hands of a woman.

A mongrel would spurn such base subservience. He is the dog of outdoors, the dog of action. He is never so happy as when with a boy to accompany him he can run far afield, dig at woodchuck holes or chase rabbits.

No mongrel dog ever willingly yielded to the debasement of having a ribbon tied around his neck. That is for a dog of less spirit, those which know not the joys of roaming far and wide, the fun in pursuing a chipmunk to its hole or in wading in the muddy stream when warm from the chase.

The real dog, the dog that usually is meant when we speak of dogs, just dog and nothing more, is the mongrel. It is well thus he is honored at last for he has been the friend of man since man lived in caves and was not much further emerged from the wild state than the dog himself. Yet to judge a mongrel dog accurately would require long and intimate acquaintance with him to learn his good qualities, his unswerving loyalty.

Blooded dogs can be judged on sight for all their merits are on the outside. The mongrel has to be known to be appreciated for he improves on acquaintance. He may not be a thing of beauty but heart does not lie open to view. Experience is needed to learn the value of a dog. Only a person, who as a child has had a dog to play with and man as only a child can, knows fully the forbearance and watchfulness that a mongrel dog can bestow on one just emerging from babyness. The mongrel often is abused and underrated but he is ready to forgive and quick to reveal his worth if given a chance. The Chicago show was belated yet deserved recognition of just dog.

Time And Distance Scorned

THIS surpassing age! Once we thrilled to the tale of "The Flying Carpet," marveled over that of

"The Seven League Boots," and then came the miracle of steam and electricity as applied to transportation on land and sea. During the last 50 years, particularly, we have witnessed the unfolding of secret after secret affecting our physical lives, developments which revolutionized habits, customs, age-old beliefs, and which steadily have enlarged our conceptions of life and the universe in which we move and have our being.

The assistant secretary of the navy

the other day, scorning the creeping pace of a modern express train, flew from one city to another in a modern plane at the rate of 127 miles an hour to keep an appointment to address a number of his fellow citizens. Business men are doing something like that every day. That the practice will become commonplace goes without saying.

Something of the possibilities of aircraft development and use may be realized from a consideration of the results of the recent flying tests at

Detroit, where Lieutenant Maughan

of the army piloted a new government plane at the rate of 220 miles an hour. That is a terrific speed for physical mechanism and mortal courage to endure. It means the banishment of continental distances, the mocking at ocean barriers. It suggests wonderful dreams for peace, frightful forebodings for war.

And what of tomorrow? We have seen and marveled over the triumphs of man in this day; what shall the vision of our children in the coming days? If we are but pioneers on the shores of knowledge and achievement, may not tomorrow

again usher in the days of the demisgods?

TRICKS USED BY SMUGGLERS

Customs Officers Have to Be Very Wide Awake to Cope With Illicit Dealers in Drugs.

The smuggler of drugs has many tricks and wiles whereby he evades the law and introduces his wares into the country. A favorite method is to use artificial flowers for concealing cocaine, opium, and other drugs. One consignment of opium was smuggled through in the stalks of artificial poppies, while cocaine has been found in violets. Vegetables are even more satisfactory from the smuggler's point of view, for quite a large quantity of drugs can be concealed in a hollowed potato. Perhaps the strangest trick of all was the use of a stuffed dog. Probably it would never have been detected had not a watchful secret service agent seen the woman with the dog open it and pull out a phial of "snow." German sausages have also been known to harbor other things besides meat. Not long ago a consignment of ink came under suspicion, and after a thorough search it was discovered that one in every ten of the bottles was a cunningly camouflaged receptacle for cocaine. Briquettes, firelighters, opera hats, and cheese have also made their appearance in smuggling operations, and one German smuggler even enclosed the drugs in a model of the Cenotaph.

"THE STORM" AN EPIC OF THE FOREST

Powerful Stage And Screen Hit Booked For The Royal Theater

What is more beautiful than the solemn quiet of deep timbered valleys? Or the bizarre mosaics of forest floors?

Always the drama of the open country has held a strong spell for young and old. Great lands, waste lands, Nature's virgin wilderness; the glory of the outdoors holds the fancy of everyone.

The soul of the wanderer turns to solitude, to "mighty pines and the voice of Silence," or to "a low verdant land house in a tope by the sea."

The spirit of the wanderer is in every prosaic citizen.

Since the development of Canada and the mad awakening of the Klondike, the glorious beauty of the wooded Northland has been pictured by a corps of brilliant novelists and playwrights.

One who found fine drama in the pervading peace of the Northern woods was Langdon McCormick. He wrote "The Storm," a play which took New York by "storm" with its vivid beauty and gripping strength. This epic of the forests was filmed as a Universal-Jewel special, starring Rains Peters and directed by the producer of "The Old Nest," Reginald Barker. It comes to the Royal theater on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Simplicity is the keynote of the forest itself, and simplicity is the predominating feature of the drama. There are only three principal figures in a unique triangular situation. Peters, Matt Moore and Virginia Valli, Joseph Swickard, Frank Lanning and Gordon McGee handle minor roles.

The photography by Percy Hilburn is said to be an element of beauty. The action was photographed among the mountains of California, and the snowstorm scenes at Bear Lake were made under realistic conditions that almost cost the lives of players. 247h

MUST PUBLISH THE "BANNS"

Law of Great Britain Has Come Down From the Earliest History of the Country.

The word "ban" is derived from the early Saxon and means to "proclaim." In the very early days a simple declaration of marriage, either with or without witnesses was considered valid; but this system led to so many abuses that in the year 1215 a council of the church laid it down that a wedding should only be solemnized after due notice had been given in the church for three successive Sundays. This was, of course, to inform the church of the intentions of its members, and to guard against abuses. In Puritan days additional publicity was often given to an impending marriage by the crying of the banns in the public market place. It is now the law of Great Britain—apart from church discipline—that banns must be published for all marriages contracted in Church of England, although the archbishop may dispense banns by special license. It is interesting to note that the Saxon word which gives us "banns" also gives us ban, banish and bandit, meaning to "proclaim" an outlaw. The licenses issued by Canadian provincial authorities are really dispensations from the publishing of the banns.—Montreal Family Herald.

Hardy's Emotional Art.

Thomas Hardy is in the great tradition, not of the romantic nor of any specific school, but of poetry per se, in that he gives us the causes of emotion rather than his individual emotions and by that means makes us share them. In him is the very soul of his verse, one feels a shyness, almost an unwillingness of emotion, which causes him to avoid the obvious beauties of verse, instinctively rather than on any conscious aesthetic principle. He likes to write about an incident which has caused him to feel rather than about the feelings it has aroused; and his effort is to draw the incident in its essence and particularity. Through long, intense and patient effort he has become a master of such drawing; he can give the character of an incident as Rembrandt can give the character of a person, in a few strokes of extreme precision and unforced emphasis, so that we have both the relish of fact and the beauty of art.—Current Opinion.

Napoleon as "Corporal Violet."

"Corporal Violet" was an appellation given to Napoleon Bonaparte during his stay in Elba in 1814-1815 by his adherents in France. The violet was the floral device of the empire, and was worn by its partisans, who confidently predicted that a certain "Corporal Violet" would return in the spring.

Napoleon was toasted as "Corporal Violet" and "Father Violet," while ladies who longed for the emperor's return wore violets in their bonnets, and smiled significantly when asked the reason. Little pictures of the flower were sold, which, on raising the petals, disclosed the features of the banished hero.

In the Barnyard.

The farm and everything about it looked beautiful, beautiful indeed with its yard full of ricks, the pond full of ducks, the fields full of sheep and cattle, and the trees still full of leaves and birds. She hung maize about the yard; the hens scampered towards it and the young pigs galloped, quarreling over the grains which they groped and snuffled for, grinding each one separately in their iron jaws, while the pullets stalked delicately among them, picked up the maize seeds—one, two, three—and swallowed them like ladies—A. SANTA CLAUS

By EDITH L. HEARN

(By McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

State street was sun-baked in the noonday heat. Robert Fosdick made brief ceremony of luncheon and hurried back to the electric fan swept coolness of his office on the tenth floor.

He picked up his aunt's letter, that had come in the morning mail, and read it again.

"Bar Harbor would be fine at this time of year," he thought, looking out over the harbor at the pleasant vista of water and white-clouded sky. "But Aunt Kate's rather insistent. That means Elsie is there."

His musings were interrupted by the voices of the two stenographers.

"Wish I had all the money this Mrs. Smith has!" sighed Mabel, over a modest peanut butter sandwich. "Was it five millions she spent in three weeks? Not that I'm dying for a couple of gold bath tubs, but I'd just as soon have a swell car and a string of diamonds as big as cherries, and all the other little accessories you can buy with that much money. What would you do with five millions, Bess?"

"Oh, dear, wouldn't it be fun?" gurgled Bess, enthusiastically. "The very first thing I'd buy would be a doll for Mary Louise—a golden-haired cherub of a doll. Then I'd hire a nice woman to take care of her day times, and—"

"Who's Mary Louise?" Mabel asked.

Mary Louise is just two. Her father died over a year ago, and her mother died just last week, and there isn't a soul to bring her up except me—or a home. I told her mother I'd try to keep her. I persuaded Mrs. Cassidy, who has three children of her own, to take care of Mary Louise while I'm at work and then I have her when I get home, and we have a lot of fun week ends."

"Oh, yes," murmured Mabel politely.

"And after I'd bought some pretty clothes for Mary Louise," Bess went on, thoughtfully, "I think I'd give all the wounded and sick veterans the best vacation they ever had. I'd take them all on auto rides every single day if they wanted to go. And I'd—"

"Got to take dictation at 1:30 from Mr. Hobbs," said Mabel, gathering up the remains of her lunch. Bess followed her; she, too, usually took dictation at 1:30 from Mr. Fosdick.

Her employer was fingering his aunt's letter when Bess entered his office with her notebook.

"I have no letters to dictate," Mr. Fosdick said. "Then, as she rose: 'By the way, Miss Powell, I—er—just overheard you and Miss Hart talking.'

"How would you like to have the use of my chauffeur and car—it holds seven—for the next week, to take veterans for rides?"

Bess could only blush and stare at him in speechless surprise. He went on, somewhat embarrassed himself:

"You could take them for a day's trip at a time. I'll make arrangements with Briggs—that's the chauffeur—to pay for the dinners. Er—you could take Mary Louise, too, and—er—if you wanted, you could ask Briggs to take Mrs. Cassidy and her family for a ride some evening."

After she had gone out, Mr. Fosdick rang for the office boy.

"Jimmy," he asked, "have you any small sisters who play with dolls?"

"Sure—two," Jimmy replied.

"There would be an ice cream soda and a dollar in it for you."

"We-ell," Jimmy beamed, his masculine distaste for doll-purchasing melting away. "I guess I could find one for you, Mister Fosdick."

That night Mary Louise and Bess played with the "cherub of a doll" until long past a two-year-old's proper bedtime. And next day there was room for the doll, too, on the front seat of the big car that came to the door promptly at 9 o'clock.

Mr. Fosdick went camping for a week, but after four days he came back, much to Bill's disgust.

"How are the parties going?" he asked Briggs that night.

"Fine, sir; just fine. The young lady seems to cheer the poor lads up quite as much as the ride does, sir. We've had a different crowd each day, except one boy she's asked to go twice. I heard him telling her how his girl threw him over when he came home sick. Guess his story kind of worked on the young lady's sympathies, sir, because she's been specially nice to him since."

"I think," said his employer judiciously, "that I'll take your place tomorrow morning, Briggs."

So Mary Louise was formally introduced next day to the kind gentleman who had played Santa Claus to her in midsummer. By the end of the day she was on intimate terms with him, to the extent of having played with his watch fob at dinner time, and been held on his knee in glinger, bachelor fashion.

During the afternoon ride, while Mary Louise took her nap cuddled in Bess' arms, Bess told Robert Fosdick about the soldier whose girl had gone back on him.

"We'll see what we can do to help the lad," promised Fosdick. "Perhaps we can find him another girl, too."

That night Fosdick sent a belated reply to his aunt's invitation.

"Just back from a trip to the Rangeleys," he wrote. "I don't believe I can leave the office again until the early fall."

"The early fall," he added confidently to himself, "is an ideal time for a honeymoon trip. Wonder if we can leave Mary Louise with Mrs. Cassidy while we're away?"

COUNTY CONTESTS DELAYED AS TEAMS MEET "OUTSIDERS"

Salem High Plays At Niles, Eagles At Akron, Athletics At Home.

There will be nothing new in the way of elimination for the county scholastic teams in their games Saturday as most of the school teams are playing elevens that are not contendents for Columbian county honors.

Salem will play at Niles while East Liverpool journeys to Struthers, this being a new team on the schedule of the Blue and White. East Palestine will entertain Storrs at home. Leetonia mixes with Newell at Leetonia. The only two county teams meeting one another are Lisbon and Wellsville, with the latter acting as hosts to the county meet grididers.

From present indications Salem should win from Niles while Wellsville should have little trouble in running up a big score on Lisbon. The county scales have one of the weakest teams in their history, losing to Alliance 94-0 and to Salem 54-0. Last week Warren took them over by a 44-0 count.

Sebring will not likely offer much opposition for East Palestine, the latter team getting ready for the clash with Salem here next week, while East Liverpool is more likely to have a battle on their hands with Struthers due to the exiled condition of Coach Bucher's eleven. Leetonia meets a tough customer in Newell as the West Virginia outfit has been hitting a fast streak of late.

In the semi-professional line the Eagles will lock horns with the Mutes at Akron, which promises to be a thriller from start to finish. Speed is the main asset of the Mutes. The Eagles expect to have their full strength present for this clash.

The Salem Athletics will have as their guests the Alliance Indians at Centennial park Sunday afternoon. These teams have met before with the locals having the edge in the first encounter, 13 to 0. To offset this, however, the Alliance aggregation has been greatly strengthened for their clash here Sunday and promise to make things more than interesting for the local eleven.

STATE-MICHIGAN GAME TO DEDICATE BIG OHIO STADIUM

Columbus, Oct. 20.—Ad Columbus admits the Ohio State-Michigan football game Saturday, to be preceded by dedication of the Ohio stadium, will bring here the largest crowd of persons ever assembled in the city on any single event.

Saturday afternoon in Columbus will be a half holiday, it was proclaimed so yesterday by Mayor Thomas, but when one considers that tickets have been sold for 65,000 spectators, and that 3,000 more "pasteboards" will go on sale Saturday morning for standing room, it is almost plain that such a proclamation was unnecessary.

Gov. Davis, state legislators, state and city officials have planned to pay respect to this great Ohio institution by their attendance at the stadium dedication. However, the enormous crowd will not be Ohioans only. State Director of Highways Sterick has announced that every road leading to Ohio, over which the estate has any supervision, will be in fit condition for motoring and indications are that all of these highways will get more

Clause Made Difficult.

A plot of ground in London was once let to the British admiralty on condition that a ship was to be always on the stocks. Falling to do this, the land would revert to its former owner, and in the deed a clause was inserted to this effect.

After a great many years the admiralty gave up the shipyard and sold the land to the city of London, which erected the present cattle market on the site. Recently a descendant and heir of the original owner applied to the court of common council to inspect the corporation's title to this property.

Then the conditional clause was discovered, much to the consternation of the corporation counsel. Later the matter was peacefully settled and a substantial sum of money changed hands.

SALEM GRANGERS REVIEW HISTORY

FRENCH FOUNDED NEW YORK?

MUST HARMONIZE WITH PIANO

Claim Made That Man From Hainaut Province Was the Original Settler of the Metropolis.

Infallible Test for Discovering Cracks and Defects in Locomotives Has Been Devised.

Several days ago your correspondent reported the invitation extended King Albert by Rev. Charles S. MacFarland, general secretary of the Churches of Christ in America, asking the sovereign to honor with his presence the celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of the founding of New York.

As a chief reason for his invitation Mr. MacFarland observed that the American metropolis owed its birth in large measure to original Walloon colonists. Of course, the Belgian newspapers have taken the liveliest interest in this bit of history and several of them, notably the Nation Belge, have printed exhaustive articles on the subject.

It would seem to be a fact, however, that the real founders of New York were in reality people from northern France or, more exactly, from the ancient province of Hainaut.

It was, indeed, a man from Avesnes, in that province, named Tesse de Forest, who, in 1624, went ashore on the island of Manhattan with some three hundred Walloon farmers and artisans who had brought their household goods and cattle from Antwerp, where they shipped.

These colonists named the community which they formed there New Avesnes in honor of their home city. Later, when the Dutch crowded them out, the city became New Amsterdam, and was finally christened New York by the English.

It has been suggested that a statue of Tesse de Forest be erected in New York in 1924.—Kansas City Star.

BARRED ENTRY INTO LONDON

Famous Gates Set Up as Defenses of the British Capital in the Middle Ages.

The first and one of the most famous of the gates of London was Aldgate, originally called Aldgate, which defended the approach to the ancient city by the great highway of Essex. It was sold to a carpenter July 29, 1760, who paid $885 for the materials, which were torn down and removed. This marked the passing of London's gates, except Newgate, which was not demolished until 20 years later. The original walls of London are supposed to have been built in the Fourth century by Theodosius, the Roman governor. There were originally four principal gates. The English metropolis, like most of the cities of the Middle ages, was surrounded by a wall and a ditch for protection against enemies.

In 1715, during the war between King John and the rebellious barons, the citizens of London aided the latter in entering the city by way of Aldgate.

The old gate was then torn down and replaced by another, built strongly of stone, which in Queen Elizabeth's reign gave way to another, more ornamental than useful. It was this gate which was demolished in 1790.

The manufacture of airplanes is being undertaken in Australia.

the piano seems to be out of place in a locomotive workshop, yet it has been found to play a very useful part.

There is no better way of discovering cracks and defects in the different parts of the machinery than by striking the metal with a hammer and then comparing the noise of the vibrations with the piano notes. The man operating the piano must have a trained ear for music, seeing that it is his business to listen for the slightest discords. If the metal rings harmoniously with the piano note all is well; the least flaw will result in a discord. Defects that are hardly to be noticed by the ordinary method of hammering are at once evident when the piano test is employed. A locomotive that rings true all over, each note which it yields synchronizing properly with the same note as given by the piano, is certainly fit to take its place in service on the railway.—Scientific American.

NEW ANGLE IN OHIO CAMPAIGN

Candidates for Congress endorsed by Wet Element.

POMERENE HEADS THE LIST

Proposed Taxation Amendments, After Being Cuffed Through Three Courts, Finally Are Given Place on the Ballot—Heavy Artillery of Both Parties Brought Into Action—Dul-Wheeler Debate.

Columbus, Oct. 20.—Two new angles have sprung up in the political fight in Ohio this week, and they lead politicians to wonder what is going to happen next.

The wets, who have long refrained from indorsing candidates, and whose indorsement has never been sought by those running for office, despite the fact no objection has been offered to the use of their power or money by the aforesaid candidates, have taken a leaf from the book of the Anti-Saloon league, which has depended largely on its hold on candidates, and the wets now are publishing lists of the men who bear the stamp of approval of their crowd.

Senator Pomerene, who has been ridden consistently by the league up until a week ago, heads the list of the men indorsed on the ticket published by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. Pomerene, a week or more ago, issued his defy to Wayne B. Wheeler and the league generally, and the probabilities are that the indorsement of the wets came as a result of the independent stand of the Democratic candidate.

The indorsement has given rise to a great deal of speculation, for it is to be noted that as long as Pomerene was silent under the thrusts of the league, no pains were spared in fighting him, but since his throwing down the gauntlet to Wheeler, these attacks have practically ceased. Whether they will be renewed now is the question Democrats are asking. Many of them hail the indorsement with evident delight, asserting Pomerene has nothing to lose by it and much to gain, as he could expect no support from the radical drys, who, they say, already are against him because of the attacks of the league. Others regard the cessation of the attacks of the league as an indication dry leaders expect Pomerene to win and are not anxious to have his enmity during the next six years.

Only three Republicans are among the 13 candidates indorsed for congress. They are Nicholas A. Longworth, Cincinnati; A. E. B. Stephens, Cincinnati; and Harry C. Gahn, Cleveland.

The others, all Democratic candidates for the house, are: Warren Gard of Hamilton, Third district; J. Henry Goeke of Lima, Fourth district; Frank Kniffin of Napoleon, Fifth district; H. H. Hartman of Gallon, Eighth district; Isaac R. Sherwood of Toledo, Ninth district; Arthur W. Overmyer of Fremont, Thirteenth district; William A. Ashbrook of Johnstown, Seventeenth district; Charles A. Mooney of Cleveland, Twentieth district; Robert Crosser of Cleveland, Twenty-first district, and W. J. Zouli of Cleveland, Twenty-second district.

The beer and wine amendment, which has at last attracted the attention of the drys, is scheduled for an awful lacing Nov. 4, when Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the league, opens up on it at Cincinnati, but the league doubtless will get just as good a razzing, for Homer Durand, erstwhile light wine and beer candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, will be on the same platform, and fur is expected to fly. Both men know their subject and neither is choicey as to what he says, so long as it will hammer home a point, and while both are lawyers, professional courtesy and legal ethics are not expected to play any prominent part in the wordy war.

The wets have already accused the league of a bald misstatement of facts in literature spread over the state and in speeches made, while the league, on the other hand, charges the wets with being nullificationists and a few other choice things that has aroused the friends of the amendment to the extent they are determined not to let up in the fight.

Incidentally Durand bolted the ticket last week, not because he has any particular objections to the Republican candidates generally, but largely, it is said, because C. C. Crabbe is the ticket for attorney general, and because Senator Willis is stumping the state for the party. Durand says they are too dry for him and he can not see the ticket for which they are fighting.

J. W. Durnell, Columbus, who finished ninth in the race of nine candidates for the Republican nomination for governor, also jumped the fence this week and announced he will not support the ticket. The action of Durand and Durnell has set tongues wagging about the capital, and some speculation as to what the other candidates defeated by Thompson are going to do.

SULPHUR IS BEST TO CLEAR UP UGLY SKIN

COURT NEWS

Sentenced to Workhouse

Truman Cain who had been indicted by the grand jury for assault with intent to rob James Dobbs at East Liverpool, entered a plea of guilty to assault and battery, and Judge J. G. Moore sentenced him to pay a fine of $50 and costs and to be confined in the Stark county workhouse for a period of 30 days, and to stand committed until the fine and costs are paid.

Menthosulphur heals eczema right up, leaving the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment or disfigurement. A little jar of Bowles Menthosulphur may be obtained at any drug store. It is used like cold cream.

Arthur H. Day, the ex-soldier candidate, is the only one that has been heard from, and Day showed his colors early. When the Republican convention was held in Columbus following the primary he was in the very front row at Memorial hall, the only defeated candidate for governor present, and he since has been placed on the Thompson committee.

The heavy artillery of both parties now is being brought into action and the closing days of the campaign are likely to be warm ones, with the administrations of Wilson and Harding the targets for the fire of the opposing speakers.

Three members of President Harding's cabinet, Attorney General Daugherty, Postmaster General Works and Commerce Director Hoover, are expected to fire the big guns for the Republicans, while the Democrats have already imported Mrs. Hilser Wilson of New York and ex-Senator Gore of Oklahoma, who are busily at work. Former Governor Cox opened up last week at Cambridge, and the Democrats are planning the biggest rally of the year when he speaks Monday night in Columbus.

Carmi A. Thompson, Republican candidate for governor, still is remaining largely in the background and leaving Senator Willis and S. D. Fess, candidate for the senate, to fire the broadsides in the campaign, but not so A. V. Donahey, the Democratic candidate. Donahey continues to live up the campaign with all kinds of charges, not against Thompson, but against the Republican party generally, and what are generally considered his hottest shots were fired this week.

In a statement issued by Donahey and used in a speech at Hillsboro, he charges "the Republicans promised us normalcy and gave us subnormalcy," and declared under present conditions "the farmer does not receive the cost of production for his crops; the tenant farmer, out of his share, does not receive enough to pay for the cutting and shocking of his corn; the working man is hard stretched to make an humble living, and the salaried man is the victim of the protected exploiter." He asserts also the Republican party "reduced the taxes of the extremely wealthy, and by an ignoble tariff placed additional burdens on the poor."

The others, all Democratic candidates for the house, are: Warren Gard of Hamilton, Third district; J. Henry Goeke of Lima, Fourth district; Frank Kniffin of Napoleon, Fifth district; H. H. Hartman of Gallon, Eighth district; Isaac R. Sherwood of Toledo, Ninth district; Arthur W. Overmyer of Fremont, Thirteenth district; William A. Ashbrook of Johnstown, Seventeenth district; Charles A. Mooney of Cleveland, Twentieth district; Robert Crosser of Cleveland, Twenty-first district, and W. J. Zouli of Cleveland, Twenty-second district.

Durand says they are too dry for him and he can not see the ticket for which they are fighting.

Incidentally Durand bolted the ticket last week, not because he has any particular objections to the Republican candidates generally, but largely, it is said, because C. C. Crabbe is the ticket for attorney general, and because Senator Willis is stumping the state for the party. Durand says they are too dry for him and he can not see the ticket for which they are fighting.

Carpentier Seeks To Regain Title
Then Meet Greb

Oct. 20.—Francois Descamps explained today that his refusal of Jack Curley's offer of $75,000 for Georges Carpentier to meet Harry Greb in America was merely a postponement of the match. He declared that Georges meant to recover his title in a return bout with Battling Greb and then go to America.

My refusal of Jack Curley's offer for Carpentier to go to America to meet Greb was just a postponement of my acceptance," Descamps declared. "Carpentier has not entirely recovered from his injuries sustained in the Siki bout, but what is more important he feels he cannot go to America with a defeat hanging over him."

On Oct. 24, Carpenter will formally challenge Siki to meet him within six months or surrender the title.

After Carpenter has regained his championship, he will gladly meet Greb."

Says Farmers Want Action, Not Advice

Columbus, Oct. 20.—"The county agent is not there to give individual advice, but to get group action."

"Agricultural extension work has got definitely beyond the point of trying to spoon-feed farm people with a lot of miscellaneous information. We want never to go back to that, the old way."

Instead, said H. C. Ramsower, director of agricultural extension in Ohio, speaking before Ohio county agents at the State Extension conference here today, the task of the county agent today is to work with organization groups, generally the local township farm bureaus, and to help these groups to put over a program of farm, home, and community improvement which they themselves adopt and forward.

The director of extension made it plain that by the term county agent he meant to include the home demonstration and the boys' and girls' club officials who, like agricultural agents, are at work in a total of 84 Ohio counties. He asserted that farm, home and junior demonstration work are all equal parts of one program.

"Remarkable progress has been made in Ohio in the development of community programs of work," Mr. Ramsower concluded. "A thousand townships had organized programs last year, and 10,000 farm people served on volunteer committees to forward the extension program.

"Our main theme at the present conference has been the extension and the strengthening of this type of organization, an organization that starts at the grass roots, and meets the expressed needs of the farming population."

Canton—Application has been made here for a building permit for a new 14 story First National bank building to be erected at a cost of $750,000.

21 Women Enter Campaigns For Congress Seat

Washington, Oct. 20.—Twenty-one women have thrown their bonnets into the ring and will stand up against men in the fight for seats in the house of representatives next month. Reports today to party headquarters here indicated, their percentage of victories would be nominal.

Representative Alice Robertson of Oklahoma, the only woman now in the house, is fighting to come back from a district which up to the time of her election two years ago was regarded as normally Democratic. Mrs. Adeline Otero-Warren defeated Representative Monoya, Republican, incumbent, in New Mexico and like Miss Robertson, has the backing of the party organization.

Mrs. Wimbred Mason Huck is the Republican nominee for representative at large from Illinois for the short term. In the first Nebraska district, Mrs. E. Luella Barton, prohibitionist, is seeking membership for the short term from December to March.

After a continuous service of 12 years, Representative Stadman, Democrat of the fifth North Carolina district, only Confederate soldier in house is striving to keep Mrs. Lucy B. Patterson, Republican from capturing his seat. Arizona, which has only one member, will re-elect Representative Hayden, Democrat, or give his place to Mrs. H. A. Guild, Republican.

Of the 21 candidates, five are Republicans, six Democrats, six Socialists, two Prohibitionists and two single taxers.

The Democratic nominees, who are making a straight fight against Republicans, are: Eileen Duane Davis, Second Pennsylvania; Jane E. Leonard, Twenty-seventh Pennsylvania; Martha Riley, Third Wisconsin; Esther K. O'Keefe, Thirteenth Indiana; Lillian C. Gault, Third Minnesota and Mrs. St. Clair Moss, Eighth Missouri.

There are two women candidates for the senate—Mrs. Anna Dickie Gleason, Minnesota, and Mrs. Jessie Hooper, Wisconsin.

Leaves Have Value When Used In Garden

Fallen leaves, unless diseased, are too valuable to burn. They may be spaded under in the garden adding fertility and humus to the soil; or used as a mulch to conserve moisture and keep down weeds; or they may even be used as a covering for apples in winter storage, according to J. H. Gurney, horticulturist of the Ohio Experiment station.

Wherever it is not necessary to burn the leaves because of disease, spaded into the garden soil they loosen it and add decaying organic matter which eventually becomes the humus of the soil. Many gardens that have been so treated for years are models of good soil and productivity.

Apple leaves, which are cited as an example, contain about 25 per cent organic matter, of which 24 per cent is nitrogen. The remaining ash contains 5.82 per cent of phosphoric acid and 11.62 per cent potash, giving the leaves a fertilizing value which ought not to be overlooked.

Leaves are also of value for mulching beds of shrubbery, particularly such arid loving plants as rhododendron, azalea, and laurel. They not only conserve moisture and keep down weeds, but preserve a suitable soil condition for best results in growth.

Some householders, it is added, find it possible to store their winter supply of apples under a deep covering of leaves. The fruit is heaped on an earthen floor in an unused barn or other outbuilding and covered loosely with the leaves. The pile should not be near timbers, and boards should not be placed on the leaves to pack them down or rats may work through the protection of leaves.

KEEP UP CAMPAIGN TO ELIMINATE RATS

The campaign for the extermination of rats, the most costly of pests from sanitary and economic standpoints, should be continuous throughout the year and well may enlist every family in America.

This filthy pest of country and city is not only an active factor in the spread of many diseases but it costs America hundreds of millions of dollars every year in food consumed and polluted.

At this season much time may be profitably spent in making cellars, granaries, stables, and other buildings rat-proof, in removing all sources of food supply, and in destroying possible nesting places.

Poison baits, such as strichnine, arsenic, phosphorus, and barium carbonate may kill many of the rodents but they are to be used with great care, and will not be touched by wise old rats that have access to unpoisoned food.

Traps may be used and afford an opportunity for the bright boy to match his wits against the cunning of this common pest.

Sabring — The solicitor here has recently advised of the fact that Sabring is facing damage suits amounting to $50,000 filed by Fish Creek farmers, because of the water of the creek being polluted by sewage.

PHENOMENON OF A FIST

"Your honor, I'm a misunderstood man."

"But you are charged with assault and battery on this person with a black eye."

"That's just the point, your honor. I slapped him on the back. It seems he wasn't feeling well and he slapped me on the jaw. The very next time I had occasion to use my right hand I discovered it was folded up."

Mere Formalities.

"I fear those two men are coming to blows," said the timorous citizen.

"Don't be alarmed," said a bystander. "There isn't a chance."

"But they are calling each other Hars."

"Only political Hars. In this part of the country if a man doesn't call somebody a Har at least once during a political campaign he doesn't consider that he's doing his duty to his party."

Brilliant Future.

"How about that college graduate who is ambitious to break into the newspaper game?"

"I have hopes of him," replied the city editor.

"Yes?"

"Some of these days he's going to write a story without trying to use all the six-syllable words in the dictionary, and it will be a corker!"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Obsessed.

"Do you believe a man should work eight hours, play eight hours and sleep eight hours?" asked the talkative person.

"Go away and don't bother me," replied the fractious citizen.

"What's the matter?"

"Since I've been trying to learn some of the new dancing steps I don't know whether a day has 24 or 48 hours."

MATTER OF OPINION.

Maude—Do you write poetry?

Frank—The editors say, not

If She Wanted It.

Faint heart ne'er won fair lady, for she can't make much of me.

Faint heart ne'er won fair lady, nor escaped the clutch of one.

Managing a Career.

"You have been in public life a great many years," remarked the admiring constituent.

"A great many," assented Senator Sorgum.

"Is this because you were judicious in selecting policies?"

"Partly. But even more to the fact that I was discreet in choosing campaign managers."

A Surprise.

"Mr. Flub, are you engaged to Beatrix Beautiful, the famous screen star?"

"What does she say about the report, me good man?"

"Says it is ridiculous."

"Then I guess we are not engaged."

Viewing the Evidence.

"Some say the teacher of the Plunkville district wears her skirts too short."

"What will be the outcome?"

"Gonna be a big attendance at the next meeting of the school committee."

Quite Ancient, in Fact

Knicker—What do you think of the modern jokes?

Bocker—Oh, they are about the same as the old ones.

Knicker—Yes, and a little older, eh?

—Stevens Tech, Stone Mill.

Still Stroking.

Mother (severely)—Edith! Did I see young Mr. Sotherlay stroking your hair on the verandah last night?

Daughter—It's a mere habit with him, mother. He used to stroke his varsity eight.

Deceiving.

Madge—You shouldn't have quarreled with your fiance in public.

Marjorie—It was just dreadful. Everybody who didn't know us must have thought we were married.

His Idea.

"I like grouch business," said the man.

"And try to please one if I can.

"If I stand his acid test

"I'm pretty sure to please the rest."

Better Way Round.

Jackie—Mother, how old are you?

Mother—I don't wish to state, but

should any of the neighbors ask you

you may tell them that I was married

when I was only eighteen.

PRETTY SOFT.

Turtle—Tee, hee, whenever I see one of my creditors, I just pull in my head!

His Idea.

"I like grouch business," said the man.

"And try to please one if I can.

"If I stand his acid test

"I'm pretty sure to please the rest."

Better Way Round.

Jackie—Mother, how old are you?

Mother—I don't wish to state, but

should any of the neighbors ask you

you may tell them that I was married

when I was only eighteen.

SEASONABLE FRUITS AND FOODS

The meaty Bing cherries make the most delicious conserve or spiced fruit, though the dark rich cherries of the smaller variety have even a better flavor.

Cherry Olives.—Wash the cherries, leaving the stem on the fruit. Pack into jars and fill with half good strong vinegar and water, add a teaspooonful of salt to a quart jar and seal. These are delicious in the winter to serve with meats. The equal parts of vinegar and water are poured over the cherries cold. Be sure to see that there is no bruised or decayed fruit in the can.

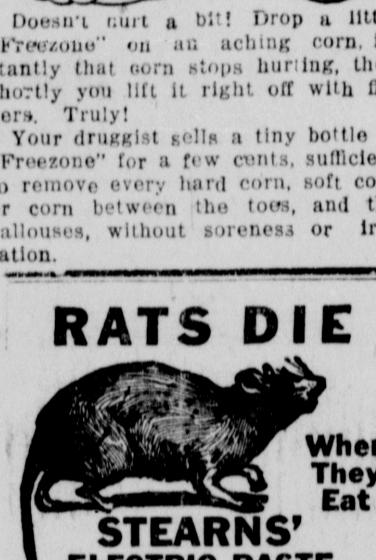

Compete of Cherries.—To a pound of cherries add one-half pound of sugar and the juice of a lemon. Wash the cherries and leave short stems on each. Put the fruit into a saucepan and pour over the sugar and lemon juice, cover and cook gently until the cherries are cooked but unbroken. Lift carefully to a glass dish and boil the syrup until thick, then pour it around the fruit.

Chicken Custard.—Cut and put through the meat chopper any leftover chicken, mix the meat with equal parts of cooked rice, season well and press into a bowl to mold. Unmold in the center of a baking dish and pour around it a custard made by using two eggs, one pint of milk, a few green peas and a tablespoonful of flour. Bake until the custard is set and serve from the baking dish.

Chicken Scrapple.—Into a quart of chicken stock that has been well seasoned stir one pint of corn meal, cook slowly for an hour, adding at the last any bits of leftover chicken. Pour into a small bread tin rinsed in cold water. When cold cut in slices and brown in hot fat. This is very nice for a breakfast dish.

Lemonade.—Squeeze one-half dozen lemons. To a pint each of sugar and water add a bit of the grated lemon peel and boil for five minutes, strain, add the lemon juice and put boiling hot into bottles. When cool set in the ice chest and the lemonade will always be ready with the addition of a tablespoonful of this syrup to a glass of chilled water.

SAGE TEA DARKENS
HAIR TO ANY SHADE

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out of date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well known down town druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears and after another application or two it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

Read the Want Column. You will find it interesting.

Flight Of Greek Fugitives Presents A Tragic Picture

Constantinople, Oct. 20.—The Bulgarian frontier was closed today to prevent panic-stricken hordes of Greek Christian refugees from swarming into that country from Thrace.

Nearly half a million Greek and Armenian fugitives have taken refuge in Macedonia. All are without food, clothing, shelter or funds. They are dependent upon the bounty of the Greek government and outside charity.

A quarter of a million refugees are still to be deported from eastern Thrace. They are being rounded up and "herded" by Greek cavalry. The scenes remind one of a cattle round-up in Texas or some other American western state.

Owing to the cold, rainy weather and the shortage of railway cars and steamships the work of evacuating the Christians is proceeding more slowly than the allies wish. Some of the concentration camps have been turned into mudholes by the rain and the brilliant clothing of the Thracian peasants is being stained to a muddy quagmire by the rain which has been falling continuously for three days and three nights. The mud is being churned into a great deep and sticky swamp by the thousands of feet plodding over it.

Stretching south and west of Adrianople for many miles are long lines of fugitives—men, women and children. Many of the residents of the northern part of Thrace were headed for the Bulgarian boundary when they learned that the border had been closed. Then began a mad race for the Maritsa river—the western frontier of that part of Thrace to be taken over by Turkey.

It will be a revelation to those who have never witnessed the many fascinating operations that enter into the manufacture of the motor car. And the camera has caught details that the eye would miss.

You see the raw materials enter, see them converted into the finished units, added in proper order to the ever-moving assembly line and finally the completed car driven away under its own power. The picture was produced under the direction of the United States Department of Commerce, in co-operation with the Studebaker Corporation and will be shown in all parts of the world. See it and you will realize why the representatives of fourteen nations, upon viewing the film in Washington, requested that it be exhibited in their respective countries.
